Dear Rye Neck Families,

Diversity Job Fair

The Lower Hudson Council of School Personnel Administrators will be holding its annual Diversity Teacher Job Fair on Saturday, March 4th to help attract a larger and broader group of educators and administrators into our schools. Those who register are invited to listen in on panel discussions and workshops about career development in the morning, and later interview with participating school districts in the afternoon.

Several members of our Rye Neck team will participate in the interview process to create new contacts with registered candidates who are matched with any of the open positions we may have for the coming school year. Anyone interested in applying for educator or administrative positions in the Lower Hudson region should register for the LHCSPA Diversity Job Fair on OLAS, the largest job search platform for school jobs in NY State. Our assistance in coordinating the event and participation in its interview process represents part of our effort to provide a teaching staff that reflects our students and community.

February Break

Our nine-day break wrapped around President's Day begins at the end of this week. To prepare for our students' return on the 27th, we are conducting another distribution of COVID antigen tests provided by NY State. Students and staff will each be given two test boxes to help detect COVID and mitigate its spread. This week and during break we have several varsity teams engaged in playoff contests. When we return, the Rye Neck High School production of Anastasia runs from March 2nd through the 4th. I look forward to seeing you there!

Best regards, and Happy 100th day of School,

Dr. Eric Lutinski
Superintendent of Schools
